

Read about Lawrence and Gómez Architects offering services to Fourmile firefighters:

BOULDER COUNTY BUSINESS REPORT

Architects aiding Fourmile firefighters

By Business Report Staff

September 30, 2010 --

BOULDER - Several area local architects, engineers and other members of the design and building industry are offering their services at no, or low cost, to emergency responders who lost their homes in the Fourmile Fire in Boulder County.

The offer is going out to firefighters and local volunteers who lost their homes to the fire while trying to save others.

The group of designers said they will design or redesign homes for local emergency responders for no fees. Other services, engineering, surveying, cost advice, etc. will be offered at substantially reduced costs.

Here is a list of individuals and companies offering their services.

Architects/designers: Bryan Bowen Architects, bryan@bryanbowenarchitects.com; Y. Rosemary Fivian, architect, rosie@yrfarchitect.com; M. Gerwing Architects, mark@mgerwingarch.com; Lawrence and Gomez Architects, juana@lawrenceandgomez.com; DAJ Design, andy@dajdesign.com; Julie La Prie, jleprie@gmail.com; Lisa Laursen, lisalaursen@gmail.com; Jim Walker, jim.walker@hotmail.com; StudioArc-Hive, mw@studioarc-hive.com.

Structural engineers: Jon X. Giltner, jxg@indra.com.

Civil engineers: Drexel, Barrell & Co., APagano@drexelbarrell.com.

Landscape architects: Studio Terra, carol@studioterra.net.

Surveyors: Drexel, Barrell & Co., APagano@drexelbarrell.com.

Builders/contractors: Cottonwood Custom Builders Inc. jah@cottonwoodcustombuilders.com.

<http://www.bibr.com/article.asp?id=53816>